The Russians are continuing their telegraph line, which now extends to Samarcand, along the line of the Oxus to Kata and to Kugan. They have dispatched an expedition to ex plore and curvey the best routes between Samarcand and Cabul. They are taking the preliminary steps for constructing 2 lines of narrow-gauge railway—one from Turkestan to Cabul, the other from the Caspian Sea to Herat. They are making explorations in the direction of the Chinese frontier in Kashgar, and there are Russian posts already established along that frontier.

From the A. & P. to the City & Suburban, Mr. W. H. Eckert, who has been for the last three or four years Manager of the A. & P. Telegraph Company, has resigned this position, to accept the more important one of General Superintendent and Manager of the City & Suburban Telegraph Associa-tion. This Company also controls the Bell Telephone, and a specialty will be made of direct verbal communication between all parts of the city and suburbs.

Mr. Eckert is a thorough telegraph man. and to his ability and untiring energy is due the great success of the A. & P. Compa-ny at this point. When he was called to the position of Manager the Company was an obscure concern, hardly recognized in the commercial circles of the city. He went to work at once and the result of his industo work at once, and the result of his indus try was soon recognized by the large in-erease in business which justified a removal of the Company's office to the present con-venient and prominent location. The telegraphic alliance, which virtually makes the two companies one, rendered his position a much easier one, but much less suited to a man of his active temperament and aggressive business turn. The Suburban Telegraph Company, in need of just such ability, has made a master stroke in inducing him to give up the pleasant position he now holds for the where his ability and industry will find full play. To his great energy and excellent business capacity he adds the further qualification of being as genial and courteous a gentleman as grasps the hands of the business men of Cincin-nati. It would be a waste of words to wish him success-he is sure to have it in any thing be undertakes.
